S. C. POWER LEVY UPHELD BY COUR

Many Other Decisions Are Handed Down by Supreme Court Bench.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(P)—The supreme court today ruled that states have the right to tax electricity generated by companies operating under rederal license.

The point was raised by the Lexington Water Power Company in assailing the South Carolina levy on power generated or sold within the state, but the court said the Carolina law was valid.

In so doing, it brushed aside the argument of the Broad River Power Company, of Columbia, S. C., that the South Carolina statute discriminated against the production of electricity by water power or steam pow-ment plan as embodied in the Jones bill, which has been passed in the Jones bill, which has been passed in the Jones of the other contention that there was discrimination in the exemption of industrial plants generating power for their own use.

The Lexington company's attack upon the law was based upon the assertion that the tax was levied on a "federal agency," since its plant on the Saluda river was constructed under a license granted by the federal water power commission.

It is apparent, however, Chief Justice Hughes said, "That the complainant, in generating and selling power, is not acting as an agent for the government. It acts with the governments, and while it may be said to have received a privilege from the government it is not a privilege to be exercised on behalf of the government. The tax is not upon the exertion of, and cannot be said to burden any governmental function."

By its action today the supreme court upheld three-judge federal courts vised the suits again.

The supreme court sustained in part an order issued by the federal trade commission requiring the Royal Milling Company, the Richland Milling Corporation and the Empire Milling Company, all of Nashville, Tenn., to cease selling their products under names which the commission held violated the federal trade commission act by indicating they were engaged in the milling industry.

INFLATION ISSUE

Congressmen, Economists Divided on Question at New York Gathering.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.-(P)-Members of congress and economists threshed out the controversial question of inflation at a banquet attended by several hundred members of the leading New York security and commodity exchanges at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight.

Speakers took sharply divergent views of the problem, some asserting that slashing the value of the dollar would lift the depression, while others declared that currency tinkering would be disastrous, and some took a middle course.

It was agreed, however, that the issue had become one of the live conomic controversies of the day. Dr. Lionel D. Edie, prominent Wall Street economist, said "this is the old battle of the nineties over again," re-calling the Bryan free coinage of silver campaign.

The young woman's body, broken and frozen, was found by a chambermaid early yesterday, lying on a ledge eight stories below Erskine's room.

Erskine told police Miss Hayburn had been his companion at the Chez Paree Night Club Saturday evening.

After the festivities he said he had placed her in a taxi, presumably bound for her home, and that he then spent the night at the home of a friend, A. G. Atwater, son of a wealthy manufacturing executive. Erskine was not held.

Kingfish Handled Finances, Planned Campaign, Says Congressman's Aid.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 .- (P)-Senator Huey P. Long was pictured as a guiding genius in the campaign that elected Representative John H. Overton to the United States senate in testimony today before the senate subcommittee investigating charges of fraud in the election.

General Samuel T. Ansell, committee counsel, drew from Harvey Pelier, one of Overton's campaign managers, admissions that Long handled the money, mapped out the campaign.

In Serious Condit Patrolman Leonard H. Satter

Mr. Peltier said he kept no records of contributions and disbursements and the financial report he filed with the senate was made up from bills and receipts and informations from other people.

The session was filled with clashes between Long and Ansell, and Senator Robert B. Howell, of Nebraska, chairman of the committee, repri chairman of the committee, repri-manded Long several times and re-minded him that he was there as counsel for Mr. Overton only through the courtesy of the committee. Once in the afternoon session, when Long interrupted the witness, Angell ac-cused Long of "trying to save" his witness and Chairman Howell order-ed Long to sit down.

"And I am standing to examine a document," answered Long.
"Then stand there then," said Ansell.

Finally both sat down.

All through the day, Earl Long, brother of Huey, who has broken with him personally and politically, sat at General Ansell's elbow and prompted his questionings into the political operations of his brother.

The questioning covered the field of campaign expenses, the use of dummy campaign expenses, the use of dummy candidates to get the appointment of election commissioners, political or-ganizations in Louisiana and the pri-ganizations in Louisiana and the primary law.

General Ansell put into the record the statement that the Louisiana primary law carried no penalty for violations as the enforcement clause had been declared void by the supreme court. The general charged that the Long organization had defeated a bill offered in the legislature to "put teeth into the law."

Mr. Peltier agreed that the Long administration had not supported the measure but declined to say it had fought it.

Mr. Peltier said contributions to the campaign were collected by Senator Long and Seymour Weiss, political associate of Long and manager of the Roosevelt botel, and that disbursements were made at the hotel.

"Did you confer with Mr. Overton about raising campaign funds?" asked General Ansell.

"No. sir."

"Did you confer with Senator Long?"

Senator Long charged before the committee that the investigation was brought by the Honest Election League, the membership of which he said is composed of corporation representatives who were opposed to his "party of the people."

Senator Long drew from the witness that it was necessary to distribute literature over the state because of the antagonism of the newspapers to Long's politics.

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 6.—(P)—An extravagant story of how 4,000 Chinese farmers committed suicide rather than fall captive to communists in the southern interior province of Kiangsi constituted today's sensation in the Chinese newspapers.

The papers declared the tragedy occurred in a village near Ningtu, southeast Kiangsi, in the heart of the Chinese soviet district. The question whether a city has the right to segregate white and negro residential sections again was placed in the Georgia courts Monday when William Hunter, negro, living at 340 Pine street, petitioned through counsel for a writ of mandamus to compel City Clerk J. Henson Tatum to issue a moving permit to Hunter, who has purchased property on Linden avenue.

Under the present city ordinance the city clerk has the right to decline to issue moving permits in cases where the applicant is believed to be undesirable because of character. Hunter, in his petition, contends that his application was turned down be-cause of racial reasons. Judge E. E. Pomeroy made the petition against Tatum returnable on February 18.

AN UNWISE SUGGESTION.

The bill now pending in the general assembly, which would make the department of archives and history an integral part of the department of state, threatens the efficiency, if not the existence, of a branch of the state government rendering invaluable service.

THE NEW GRADY.

Announcement of plans for the establishment of a single medical and executive staff to supervise all units of Grady hospital, assures more efficient and smooth-working service, and is an important contribution to the expansion and development of the hospital under the present board of control.

Formerly each unit of the hosital has had its individual medical staffs and frequent friction has developed over the management of the various divisions of the institution, with a resultant slackening in efficiency.

These disagreements among the nembers of the medical fraternity serving at Grady were a natural outcome of the unsettled conditions and steady deterioration of service which marked the years during which the hospital was under political control.

These conditions have been eliminated under the direction of the group of able and patriotic Atlantans now in control of the hospital's affairs and steady progress made in the expansion of its plant.

Despite steadily increasing demands for service to the public, and with but little more revenue, the board has been able to add, during the past year, a badly needed maternity ward, a new diet kitchen

Logical Disasters.

In the last two years or so, severa In the last two years or so, several big passenger steamers were wholly or partially destroyed by fire. The Europa, of the Bremen Lloyd, burned while she was still in construction and her launching was delayed for a year. The France had a serious conflagration, but also in dry-dock. Then came the frightful disaster of the Georges Philippar in the Red sea, which took the lives of scores of people, among them our friend, M. Albert Londres, the foremost reporter of France. Now again it is the Atlantique, another the foremost reporter of France. Now again it is the Atlantique, another French luxury steamer. Fortunately this latter ship was carrying no passengers, but the members of the crew are also human beings and many of these perished.

In Holland, at the same time, the P. C. Hooft went up in flames. I asked a shipbuilding engineer the other day whether the immense ocean liner Normandie, now under construction in France, would be fireproof at least, and he replied: "If no special precautions are taken, the Normandie will have just a save of the other. will burn, just as any of the other ships are liable to burn any day. To make these liners absolutely safe they would all have to be completely over-

When you come to think of it, it when you come to think of it, it is nothing less than miraculous that no more maritime disasters have taken place. The whole inside of these ships is a mass of flimsy partitions, ceilings of heavily varnished or painted wood. Behind those partitions and ceilings run the electric wires and all the other pines, connections, tubes the other pipes, connections, tubes and things which we are not supposed to see. Behind those walls in the cabins, walls which are no thicker than cardboard, is the heating apparatus. Electric lamps everywhere, even in the cupboards, and furthereven in the cupboards, and further-more, carpeta, screens, flapping and flying curtains, here a dear old fellow who sits smoking his cigars as if he were at home in his garden, over there a young matron who passes an electric iron over a skirt that has been a little crumpled in the steamer trunk and if there is no plug to put the iron in there is norpage a little the iron in, there is perhaps a little spirit lamp, as I saw several times on French boats, little spirit lamps which are carried from one cabin to the other by stewards to heat this or that thing.

No, really, those disasters on the high seas are quite logical. The fire-proof steamer will be the ship that is stripped of all the illusions of a hotel, bare, steel walls and rigorous enforcement of the non-smoking regu-lations except in absolutely fireproof

Dr. Pierre Vachet, director of the French Institute of Psychology, has decided that his fellow citizens too often go about the world with gloomy faces when they ought to be smiling. In a series of lectures which he has just begun, the doctor has set out to teach his contemporaries that it is just as easy to laugh as to frown, and that when life is taken as a whole, there is as much reason for mirth as largely due to the fact that people living in our strenuous times do not sufficiently relax. When they are not actually working, most of them are worrying. The other evening after a brief lecture, he asked the members of his audience to close their even and worrying. The other evening after a brief lecture, he asked the members of his audience to close their eyes and for only one minute to think of nothing at all except to enjoy the sensation of being comfortably seated and warmly clad. At the end of the minute's silence he turned on a gramophone, and to the accompaniment of a lively tune, invited his audience to laugh. They did. The doctor explained

In a person over 50, however, such a marked loss of weight as our pupil describes, is a grave matter; too often the individual fails to recuperate, for the simple physiological reason that the constructive, building, reparative capacity of the body is naturally less vigorous after mature the control and guidance of the technicians?

By amending the constitution? By means of a revolution? One or the other would be required. It takes emotion to achieve a revolution. Can you imagine frenzied citizens fighting in the street to make technicians masters of America? Who has the enthusiasm, the patience and the millions necessary to support the long campaign required to amend the constitution?

It can't be done. Whatever the merits of technocracy, the people won't give it a chance. Their unwillingness to try it is the insurmountable obstacle.

What, then, is the other method, unfailing and simple, that can't new 10 work because the people won't try it?

It is a way of life, taught and exemplified some 1900 years ago by Briefly, it consists in complete unselfishness, service, loving one's neighbor as one's self, doing good, caring nothing for wealth, doing to others as you would have them do to you.

This plan would solve all problems in a day. But it can't work because the neonly won't try it necessary to establish "temporary international co-operation in the internal reconstruction of China, as suggested by the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen."

cause the people won't try it, and they won't try it because each one hopes eventually to find a more gainful method.

of agriculture or other government agencies. This was said to total about 3,500,000 bales.

Producers then would be given an option on a share of this cotton and in return would reduce their 1933 production by the same amount. The option could be exercised on August 15, by which time, proponents of the plan believe, the price would have risen so that the participating producer, receiving the difference between the present and the August 15 price, would make a profit.

Senator George expressed to re-orters the view that such a policy of production control enacted by the federal government would lead to similar action by bankers financing crops. In addition, he pointed out, the $90,000,000 crop production loan bill just approved by President Hoover just approved by President Hoover gives the secretary of agriculture authority to require borrowers to cut acreage up to 30 per cent. He added that the agricultural credit corporations could apply a similar policy.

Smith Approves Proposal.

The George proposal has been accepted by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, ranking democrat on the agriculture committee, as a substitute for a similar measure which he pro-

No effort will be made, George said, to eliminate cotton from the farm parity or "allotment" plan but it is felt the cotton pool bill has a chance of becoming law this session.

"It is the humbler, simpler business of a biographer to let us see the man," declared Philip Guedalla, the man who is a large crowd in Glenn Memorial auditorium Monday night on "Wellington, ton, the Duke and the Man." He was brought to Atlanta by the Student Lecture Association of Emory University.

Mr. Guedalla, with clever phrasing characteristic of his address, condemned historians who "try to prove themselves more clever than their subject."

"There are two quite different wisys of history," he said. "There is one view which traces everything in history to blind causes, economic causes, mass tendencies. Historians of this view take the position that just because something happened, it was bound to happen. The other was often a pair of hands that there was often a pair of hands that there was often a pair of hands that shaped events while they were happening." Upon this theory he bases his interest in biography, he said.

Mayor James L. Key, in vetoing the 1933 budget of the board of education, cited the city's financial plight and called attention to the fact that the board has no right to submit a budget in excess of the council appropriation. His veto message follows:

Gentlemen and Ladies:

Democratic leaders were ready tonight to listen to arguments that the house should test public sentiment on proposals to expand the currency through remonetization of silver.

They were somewhat skeptical, but indicated, however, they would reserve final decision pending agreement by the coinage committee on a bill Chairman Somers would like to bring to a vote on the floor.

They agreed that such a measure had no chance of reaching the White House before March 4. And many argued that if trial balloons are to be sent aloft they had better be by individuals rather than by the democratic house itself.

Regardless of the attitude of leaders, the idea of some members that a silver measure should be brought to a vote in the house before the new congress meets was made increasingly clear today in the bearing before the

May activities of the city government have been cut out or reduced in such provisions and empower council ment have been cut out or reduced in order to meet this situation. The banks require a balanced budget be-fore they will lend money to the city of Atlanta. That demand has been met of Atlanta. That demand has been met by stripping the city government, out-side of schools, of practically every ac-tivity that could be dispensed with. We have gone so far even as to cut out white-way lights. Policemen have been employed at as low as $75 per month, with a 10 per cent cut added. Two fire companies have been eliminated, street work reduced to a minimum, charities and relief of the poor cut 25 per cent, and every other thing that prudence and conservatism and an earprudence and conservatism and an ear prudence and conservatism and an earnest desire to accommodate ourselves to the situation would suggest.

In order to help meet this situation.
I have suggested that certain activities of the schools should be eliminated. I have suggested that the kindergarten, which is a valuable thing, should be maintained if we had the money to maintain it with, but it is not an essential and integral part of our educational system and should of our educational system and should be eliminated. Such other new and imported ideas as visual education, testing and guidance, and many other supervisory activities could be, and should be, eliminated under the present conditions. Not that these things are not valuable, because they are, but because the people have not the money to pay for them at the present time and the schools should approach the subject from that standpoint. Good citizenship requires at every point our educational system and should citizenship requires at every point such adjustment to our present financial situation. That includes the schools. The schools should not only practice economy and good government, but they should teach it.

The schools should not be arraying the teachers and entire the teachers and children the teachers and parents and children the teachers and parents and children against their government. They should be teaching them to co-operate and sympathize with the government and help 'hem through this present bad situation. The only ground upon which public schools could be justified is their contribution toward good citizenship and good government. I call on the schools to make that contribution at this time.

I do not, and shall not, at any time

I do not, and shall not, at any time

I do not, and shall not, at any time attempt to go into the details of the administration of the schools, but some things could be pointed out that are unjust and call for a change of attitude by the school department.

There is an effort on the part of the school department at the present time to increase by legislative fiat the mandatory appropriation of the school from 26 per cent of the gross revenue to 30 per cent. There is no way that any additional appropriation way that any additional appropriation could be made to the school department, except out of the pay roll of the other employes, and after we compare these pay rolls we find now that the school salaries are higher than the salaries paid to other city employes.

Piles Go Quick

Itching, bleeding or protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you really remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the lower bowel and hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and suppositories fail because only an internal medicine that stimulates the circulation and drives out the impure holed can actually correct the cause of piles. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remoty, After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in over 900 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. The school department of this city has never fared badly at the hands of the city government. Everybody in the city government loves the schools and wishes to do for them all that is reasonable, but we have reached a point now where we must invoke the rule of common fairness and common justice, which should apply to the schools as well as to everyone else.

I wish to add this further suggestion: If the additional appropriation to the school department is secured another year it will make it impossible to give the taxpayers of this city a further reduction in the assessment of their properties to which they are entitled. ## Jug of Syrup or Dozen Eggs Admits to Roby Fights

Mr. Cleve Roby, whose career as a boxing promoter has had more ups and downs than a veteran elevator, has the honor of bringing barter to the box office of the prize ring profession. I was just raising the cup of java in the general direction of the face yesterday at noon when it was sud-denly interrupted by a vivid green throw-sheet. "Boxing and Dance," said the first screaming lines. Above it was the honest face of Mr. Cleve Roby.

"Do you mean the boxers are going to dance?" I asked, being suspicious that way.

"No, no," said Mr. Roby. "The dance is later on. Read on and on and on."

And it was a most intriguing poster.

It seems that the Kenderhook district, where Roscoe Roby's store is located, "halfway between the cities of Eatonton and ' is to have a veneer of fistic culture on next Friday night when Battling Bozo and Bob Boy Kanab are to fight, supported by two other battles.

So eager is Mr. Roby to attract the customers that ne is offering to barter for the admission. One line in his program reads:

"Admission 25 cents cash or produce—EGGS, CORN, PO-TATOES, CHICKENS, SYRUP, ETC."

Let's see, at the market price of 12 1-2 cents per dozen, a fellow will have to produce a couple of dozen eggs at the ticket window to gain admittance to the fight. I am wondering what the ticket taker will do if any one brings a large group of relatives along.

A sack of corn (one presumes Mr. Roby refers only to the non-liquid sort), will admit one to a seat from which vantage point he may witness Bozo and Kanab.

Potatoes, Irish or sweet, will also be received at the ticket window in lieu of filthy lucre. A gallon of syrup will also enable one to pass the portals.

A good fat hen is good for three tickets. And as another feature "Fiddlin' John" Carson and "Moonshine" Kate will supply the music.

"Fiddlin' John" Carson and "Moonshine" Kate have been getting in shape all week by eating a very great amount, each day, of comestibles such as turnip greens, cooked with side meat, and string beans and new potatoes. It was just the other day that I saw "Fiddlin' John."

"A feller cain't fiddle none," he said, "if his system is cluttered up with a lot of city victuals. It takes cracklin' bread, turnip greens and side meat to get a fiddle soundin' right."

It seems to me Mr. Cleve Roby has wrecked other prizefight promoters. I do wish I could go to the Kenderhook district and watch the eggs and cabbages and chickens come in at the ticket window.

The fighters, though, are to receive cash, not ham and eggs.

A TIP FOR ALL PROMOTERS.

This move by the Atlanta promoter, who is taking his cultural exhibits out of the city, contains a moral for the owners of stables of horses and boxers.

It was just the other day that a gentleman owning a string of horses wrote that he was considering giving up this year and living off his horses for the winter. up this year and living our his houses to He had never eaten horse meat but he understood the French did and liked it.

"I think some meat off two or three pretty fair stake horses I have ought to be pretty good," he said.

If the race hoss people will begin taking in bunches of carrots, bales of hay and nosebags full of oats, among other things, as admission at the gate, they should be able to survive the winter. They and their hosses.

The owners of several boxing stables in New York and other cities are in distress. They cannot eat their boxers. And there is no nutriment in old boxing gloves.

One benefit show at Madison Square Garden, with vegetables, chickens and syrup as admission, would attract all the farmers, amateur and professional, from Long Island.

Keepers of restaurants, delicatessens and so forth could contribute salami, good red herring and cheese. Although it might be best to bar cheese, since most prize rings have a slightly fromagenous flavor in these days. At any rate it is a good idea. And all promoters should be sure that all barters of eggs and cabbage, find all of it checked at the ticket window.

"BEARCAT" OBIE.

'After Mr. Cleve Roby had left the restaurant, with a solemn adjuration not to forget that he was putting on a fight in Atlanta on February 20, he came rushing back to again interrupt the efforts to take a swig of java, which by now was a bit cool. "See this letter." he said.

Whereupon he flashed a letter from Jess McMahon, former matchmaker of the Garden (now in Philadelphia), in which McMahon told of one "Bearcat" Obie, an Atlanta colored boy, knocking over some heavyweight in Philadelphia.

I gave McMahon a share in Obie." said Mr. Roby, ear-"and there is no heavyweight who can beat him. McMahon, owner of a share in "Bearcat" Obie preferred, thinks himself that Obie may go far. And he, McMahon, is interested in some other ring products

Lew Hardwick, another colored boy from Atlanta, is knocking them over in the east and is already sure of a fight in the Hardwick, like Obie, got his start with Roby.

THE WRESTLING CARD.

Henry Weber, with both wrestlers posting a forfeit, expects to turn them away tonight when he offers George Zaharias and Jim Clinkstock, two genuine hairy behemoths, in a match which has been a year in the making.

It is a match which the fans wanted last summer for the outdoor season. It is a match which both principals have dodged for a year.

Clinkstock and Zaharias will put more tonnage in the ring than any two who have appeared here. The total weight will be something like 500 pounds.

SEWANEE'S GRID PROSPECTS.

Harry (Hek) Clark, Sewanee's head football coach, was along with the basketball team last night. Clark, with a football squad of 25, produced a good team last fall. It won few games but it was difficult to subdue.

"I expect about 25 men out next fall," said Clark, cheerfully. "If I get a couple of fellows to become pretty good tackles I think we may be a little better than last year. These fellows haven't played tackle but I think they can."

Everything, said Mr. Einstein, is relative. Except this case. Most football coaches of my acquaintance, with squads of 50, and 70, are weeping salty tears about the lack of material. Sewance would like to play Georgia Tech in 1934. And that game wouldn't be a bad idea—with all the Sewance alumni that game wouldn't be a bad idea—with all the Sewance alumni in Atlanta and Chattanooga.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(49)—The International baseball league today adopted a 168-game playing schedule opening April 12 and closing September 10. Jersey City and Albany were included in the schedule, indicating that operation of franchises in those two cities was assured, although there was no definite announcement.

Spring Football, Track and Golf Are Menace To Game.

By Frederick G. Lieb.

According to Jack Coffey, graduate manager of athletics at Fordham University and coach of the Maroon baseball team, the first baseball game played by Fordham was on November 3, 1859. That was years before the crude football game between Princeton and Rutgers in the seventies supposedly the first of the collegiate gridiron tussles.

posedly the first of the collegiate gridiron tussles.

There is one ray of sunshine. In his report on intercollegiate sports, Major Griffith, president of the National Collegiate A. A., notes that because of non-productivity schools and colleges have found it difficult to maintain baseball teams, but adds: "When the game is played, however, there apparently is more interest than has been noticeable for several years."

College couches do not agree on the slump of college baseball. Andy Coakley, former big leaguer and mentor of Columbia's baseball teams for the last 19 years, believes some people have a wrong slant on the attendances at college ball games a generation back.

Pat O'Shocker was originally slated as the opponent of Zaharias on this occasion, but three fractured ribs suffered by the Irishman in a bout at Cleveland Friday night made a substitution necessary. Judging from the records. Clinkstock stands a much better chance against the huge Greek. Who has been called the most improved when the same of the college and th

"Baseball crowds at college games were not as big when I was a college player as they are today," said Andy. "Several years ago Holy Cross played Boston College before a crowd of more than 20,000. If we ever had played to such a crowd when I went to Holy Cross, we would not have known how to act. There weren't that many in the stands when I pitched against Mathewson in the World Series of 1905."

great pitcher of the nineties and regarded by the late Bill Hanna as one of the foremost players of all time, professional as well as amateur, has no doubt college baseball is not what it used to be. In "Dutch's" time, the big ambition of the Yale team was to knock over such National league clubs as Boston, Giants and Brooklyn. They went into the game to beat the leaguers, and frequently did. Alonzo, Stagg preceded Carter by several years. As captain of the squad, he drilled his players by the hour to run bases on college and National league catchers.

"They no longer get the same caliber of players in college ball," said "Dutch." "I don't know why it is but I guess we loved baseball more than the boys of today. They tell of the Old Orioles eating, drinking and sleeping baseball. The same applied to the Yale teams of which I was a member. And it also applied to Harvard, Princeton, Penn, Brown and the other teams we met."

Clinkstock will provide strenuous poposition, however, even for Zaharias. The Indian is a fast, clean and resourceful grappler who has won many matches here through the use of his tamous flying scissors, a hold he applies with remarkable speed and effectiveness. Only once has Clinkstock will provide as fast, clean and resourceful grappler who has won many matches here through the use of his tamous flying scissors, a hold he applies with remarkable speed and effectiveness. Carter also is of the impression many present-day college boys regard baseball as too plebeian.

NOT FASHIONABLE.

"It isn't fashionable enough," he added. "Many boys go to college with the hope of making social or business connections. They think they have a better chance to meet the 'right kind of people' on golf and football teams. You know there still are people who believe baseball is lowbrow."

Two winters ago Joey Sewell, little Yankee third baseman, brought evidence to St. Petersburg of the slump of college ball in the south. Joe had assisted with the preliminary baseball at his alma mater, the University of Alabama. Some 25 boys came out for the first call for practice.

"When I played there we had 200 men out for the team," said the little infielder. "But everyone down there now thinks only of football." Alabama graduated both of the Sewell boys, Joe and Luke: Del Pratt. Riggs Stephenson and Andy Cohen to he big leagues.

Professional baseball helped bring about the decline in college football. In its relentless quest for players, boys who frequently played football as well as baseball were signed before graduation.

Ten years ago I heard Bill Bren-nan, umpire-in-chief of the Southern association, warn baseball men they would kill college baseball if they did not stay away from undergraduates. Brennan is a former National league umpire, who coaches southern college football teams in the fall.

"You've got to leave undergraduates alone, or there will be no college baseball in the south," was Bill's prophetic warning. ALL-ROUND ATHLETES.

ALL-ROUND ATHLETES.

In the old days most of the crack college hall players who reached the major leagues also were football players. They included Mathewson and McCormick, of Bucknell; Plank, of Gettysburg; Eddie Collins, of Columbia; Dave Fultz, of Brown; Jack Coombs, of Colby; Harry Lord, of Bates; Ray Collins, of Vermont; Ray Fisher, of Middlebury, and a host of others. Gehrig, Frish, Cohen and "Rip" Collins also were football luminaries, while Ernie Nevers, former Brown pitcher, was the great Allmer Brown pitcher, was the great All-America fullback at Stanford.

America fullback at Stanford.

Today the tendency is to keep the squads apart, especially where colleges have spring football practice. Boys have told me there was little chance of making the varsity football team if they skipped spring practice. And, as "Dutch" Carter put it, the football squad is more fashionable.

Bob Walsh, son of Ed, famous White Sox pitcher, told me of going out for the Notre Dame football team under the late Knute Rockne.

"It's football or baseball here," the Rock told him. "You come from a baseball family and better stick to baseball."

Jack Coffey, who played infield for Fordham, says: "A college baseball game attracts almost as many persons, as it did 25 years ago. The tremendous interest in intercollegiate football, the advance in appeal of golf, the increase in the number of automobiles and the popularity of motion pictures have made inroads into baseball, college as well as professional. Charley Gelbert, once considered one of the most promising infielders in baseball, is not going to play in the Cardinal infield this season because of the accident he sustained last fall while on a hunting trip. The accidental discharge of a gun all but tore away the calf of one of his legs and Gelbert has not recovered. (Story at bottom of page.)

By Jimmy Jones.

John Joseph Bonowitz, who bids fair to enlist Atlanta's Jewish population strongly behind the cause of baseball, considers his new team—the Crackers—to be "in the best spot" of any Southern league outfit which will go to the post April 11 for the grand get-away on the 1933 season.

The husky outfielder, who batted a clear-cut .350 for Bert Niehoff's champion Lookouts last season, is not only delighted with his change of scenery, but believes that in the next three years the Crackers will make a graduated progress in the general direction of a pennant.

"I always like to move around a bit after playing on a pennant winner for 1 know that the fans are to be satisfied with nothing less than another, one," Joe declared while on a week-end visit here.

Southeastern standings. The score was 38 to 26.

The Jackets, in registering their fourth conference victory against three defeats, found fairly easy saling outside of the first 10 minutes when the Purple Tigers from the Tennessee mountains showed a tendency to stick close to their opponents. Hugh Gooding and Leon Woodall, the Jacket forwards, began ringing baskets, however, and the score widened from 14-12 to 20-12, a margin which the Golden Tornado held at half time.

For the remainder of the game, Sewanee trailed away behind, displaying occassional spurts when Morton, a forward, rimmed a basket, or Hatch, clever running guard, would puncture Tech's defense for a successful cast. Hugh Gooding, with 11 points, was Tech's high point man, while Woodall, his running mate, had nine for the night. Morton made 13 of Sewanee's points and Hatch tallied 6.

Great Freshman Eleven Coming Up for Varsity Football.

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 6.—(P) Captain Lawrence "Biff" Jones will bank on sophomores next fall in his effort to build up as successful a gridiron record at Louisiana State University as he did a few years ago at West Point.

at West Point.

Word has drifted around the Southeastern conference that Jones last fall had one of the best looking freshman squads in Dixie.

The first-year eleven played but two games, and, although they were unbeaten and unscored on, Jones isn't sure yet just how they will stand up under stiffer opposition.

Spring practice starts here February 14 and football fans throughout the conference will watch Jones' experiments with these highly rated sophomores-to-be.

He considers Andy Messenger and Bob Hasty as tough a pair of righthanders as Chattanooga faced all last season. He is particularly glad to get on the same club with Messenger. "He almost beat us out of the pennant last year and besides, I could never hit him," he laughingly added. "Messenger deserves to be on a winner, after pitching most of his care at with a loser." Joe also believes that Atlanta will have no trouble getting pitchers, as he mentioned that the would be a lot of them bolding out this spring who could be bought cheaply. He believes Atlanta can buy Alex McColl from Chattanooga for a reasonable amount of cash.

Cab Driver Slugged,

But Routs 2 Robbers

Two white robbers were routed early Tuesday morning with their own empty pistol by a cab driver, Tom Lusk, of 664 Jones avenue, after they had struck him over the head with the gun and attempted to rob him.

Lusk, treated at Grady hospital for minor lacerations about the head, told officers that he picked up two white men in his cab at Washington and Hunter streets and was told to drive to Benteen avenue, near South Boulevard. When they reached that point the men attempted to relieve Lusk of his money, and struck him when he resisted. He wrested the gun from them and put them to flight, After the scuffle he found the pistol was the men attempted to relieve Lusk to fhis money, and struck him when he resisted. ### Program Announced for Institute For Training Leaders of B. W.M.U.

Mrs. E. M. Bailey, state mission study chairman of the B. W. M. U., announces that the institute for training leaders to be held at the First Baptist church February 14, 15, 16, will have the following faculty members: Mrs. Hudson Thomas, Mrs. W. C. Little, Mrs. James D. Rhodes and Mrs. J. H. Zachry.

Mrs. Una Roberts Lawrence, well-known Baptist writer and teacher, will give lectures each day on methods of story telling, dramatization and program building.

Baptist ministers of Atlanta will give the morning and afternoon devotionals. Dr. Ellis Fuller and Mrs. A. L. McMahon have arranged for the Wednesday evening program at the First Baptist church, which will be entitled "The Great Commission," featuring a number of missionaries returned from Baptist fields of work. Members of the state board of the B. W. M. U. will take part in the conferences, each chairman outlining her own department activities and its relations to the mission study department.

Relief Service Group Sponsors Bridge Party at Mrs. Robinson's on Feb. 10

Members of the Relief Service Group, composed of socially prominent Atlanta matrons, will sponsor a series of contract bridge parties to raise funds to support destitute families that have been investigated by trained welfare workers of the city. The first of the series will be given Friday afternoon, February 10, at 2:30 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. James D. Robinson at 1328 Ponce de Leon avenue.

No tickets will be sold for the benefit bridge party, but $1 paid to any member of the committee will entitle the player to prizes and refreshments. This amusing and profitable method of helping charity should appeal to Atlantans, and the proceeds resulting therefrom will be used to relieve distress and to keep children with their

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

I know a woman who has been married three times. Her first and second husbands died and now she is married to a splendid man, a good provider, kind, generous and sterling in character. He adores her and does everything that is humanly possible to make her happy. This woman recently confided in me that she had a disgraceful affair with another man. Her husband has never suspected her of and Mrs. Bondurant will be at home at 3627 Georgia avenue, in Hapeville.

Miss Sims Honored
In Columbia, S. C.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 6.—Mrs.
W. H. Owings and Mrs. B. M. Coyle gave a dance Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Conway, 2729 Wheat street, in honor of their niece, Miss Janelle Sims, of Atlanta, Ga., who is here for a three-week visit. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Conway and Mrs. R. L. Jumper.

Answer: You have given her the right advice provided she is really penitent and resolved to be a decent and loyal wife to her husband the rest of his life. No good could come of the confession other than an easement of her own conscience. Much harm could come of it. The husband would have his faith in his wife destroyed. He would be placed in an intolerable position with the "other man." If he happened to be high-tempered and uncontrolled he might be tempted to do bodily harm to the interloper. There is no end of the trouble that might come of such a confession.

Of course her guilt preys upon her mind constantly. That is her punishment for wrong-doing. But why should an innocent hus and be made to share it?

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: What can a wife do about a husband that idolizes money? We have a lovely home, according to the standard of a workingman. I keep it spic and span, as it is my pride and joy. I love my husband as much as a woman can love a man and he, realizing this does averything he can to Assistants at the Atlanta Woman's Club on Saturday evening, February 18. from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Answer: Enjoy your home, be as economical as you can, buy what you actually need beyond the allowance he makes you and grin and bear his displeasure. After all, when a wife does her part toward building up the family fortune and conserving it, she has some rights to a fair share of the income. If the man is so mean and stingy that he won't give it to her, then she is entitled to get it the best way she can. There at tricks in all trades and the wife who is treated like a servant soon learns to practice them.

Earnings.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—A net profit of $1,053,625 for 1932 was reported today by M. H. Karker, president of the Jewel Tea Company, Karker said that while the profit included provision for taxation, depreciation and reserves it did not include a $210,442 loss incurred by Jewel Food Stores Inc., an affillated concern.

The profit provided for an earning of $3.76 a share, he said, as compared to $4.87 a year in 1931 when the net profit was $1,363,780. The quarterly dividend rate of $1 a share paid in 1932 was cut to 75 cents a share beginning with the January, 1933, payment.

FOR LEXINGTON POWER

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 6.—(P) A receivership was sought today for the Lexington Water Power Company, operator of the huge Saluda power project near Columbia.

Louis Mansbach, of New York, instituted proceedings in federal district court here and Judge J. Lyles Glenn ordered a hearing at Columbia February 15, when the company is to show why a receiver should not be named to take possession of the property and to take possession of the property and operate it under court direction.

The plaintiff says he is owner of debentures in the sum of $5,000 issued by the company on which interest was due January 1, and which was not paid. He says the company is inwatered stock and extravagance.
The Saluda dam, operated near Columbia by the Lexington Company, is said to be the largest inland dam of earth construction in the country. It was completed in 1930 and the backwater extends into four counties.

The Lexington company sells power to utility companies. It was organized in 1926.

By VICTOR EUBANK. NEW YORK, Feb. 6 .- (P) -- Some

divisions of the bond market took on a more cheerful appearance in the course of today's session, but the list as a whole was markedly irregular. The average price of 60 representative issues receded 4-10 of a point, and turnover amounted to $9,283,000 compared with $9,502,000 on Friday.

United States government issues were not among the groups to show improvement. Some of the treasury se-ries were forced from 1-16 to 1-8 of a ries were forced from 1-16 to 1-8 of a point lower on selling accompanied by rumors that treasury officials might test the ground for long-term financing this month in connection with March 15 maturities. Liberty 3 1-2s and Fourth 4 1-4s were also heavy.

All through the German list strong rellying tendencies developed after early heaviness. German 5 1-2s and 7s, which bore the brunt of last week's selling coincident with Hitler's accession to the chancellorship, came back 2 and 3 points, respectively.

Rails and utilities had no definite trend. In each group certain members rose a point or two rather easily, and an equal number yielded in about the same degree.

Industrial descriptions were not featured either by unusual activity or wide price changes. The rubber and tire group was firmer than last week.

The General Motors payment at the The General Motors payment at this time also will cause a revision of the unfavorable predictions with regard to the American Telephone & Telegraph Company dividend since the unfavorable actions taken by the Standard Oil of New Jersey and United States Stee!

The New York Stock Exchange had closed prior to the General Motors dividend announcement, but the stock was quoted in Los Angeles a shade over the closing price of 12 1-2 here.

MARKET FIRMER.

The stock market exhibited a firm to an oversold technical condition.

There was cessation of liquidation from the south, due to loans granted banking institutions in New Orleans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

While railroad shares and indus trials did better, public utilities failed to show any sympathetic improve-ment. Liquidation continues in the latter department.

Profit-taking appeared in the gold stocks for the first time and the mos active issues were fractionally lower nctive issues were fractionally lower. This was in sympathy with a reactionary tendency exhibited by the gold shares in London. McIntyre Porcupine, however, got up to a new high price before realizing sales appeared. One cheerful development in the gold stocks was that Canadians appeared as buyers of those shares on a substantial scale. Heretofore the Canadians have been sellers of the gold shares.

The group of capitalists visiting the mines of the McIntyre Porcupine are understood to be inspecting other properties also.

A sharp rise in the price of sterling exchange of about four cents was said to have had a restraining influence on speculation in the gold shares in London. Buying of the gold shares, however, continues to be reported better than the selling.

Other factors which contributed to the better undertone in the stock marthe better undertone in the stock mar-ket were a rise of more than a cent a bushel in the price of wheat and higher prices for cotton.

The bond market was a shade lower but speculative railroad issues dis-played an upward tendency, undoubt-edly because of the betterment in railroad stocks.

WINTER VISITORS RETURNINGCOTTON TO OLDEN THRONE

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(P) Cotton is being returned to its kingdom by the winter colony here.

Smart modes in cotton are seen on the fairway, at the polo games, on the tennis courts, the beaches and the diamond ball games. The vogue for cotton evening frocks, inaugurated last season, shows no sign of abatement.

A dinner gown of chiffon organdy in blue and white plaid, with a wide velvet girdle of blue, was worn by Mrs. James Fayne, of Rye, N. Y. Admiring glances also were directed toward Mrs. Robert Kennedy, of New York, whose organdy frock was embroidered in large silver dots. Her short jacket had large puffed sleeves, and was banded in silver ribbon.

Mrs. Ranulf Comptol, of New York, sponsors a dainty frock of white all over embroidery with collar and cuffs edged with net.

Linen evening frocks also have been seen at many affairs. One particularly attractive frock was in white linen with diagonal stripes in red. A de-tachable cape covered a harness back tachable cape covered a harness back decolletage.

For daytime wear, the cotton fabrics are nearly all in rough or "blistered" finish. Colors are in soft pastel tones. Almost every dress shown has its cape which may be removed. Jackets, too, continue popular. Scarfs and scarf effects add a decorative touch to daytime apparel while buttons, both large and small are for ornamental purposes only.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The curb market dipped a shade in the earlier trading today, but turned about in the closing hour, a number of leading stocks registering gains of a fraction to a point. Transfers totaled 150,000 shares, the same as last Friday.
The utilities continued somewhat heavy, although they rallied enough in the closing upturn to reduce earlier losses to small fractions, Ameri- can Gas & Electric going slightly can Gas & Electric going slightly above its Saturday closing price.

Turnover continued fairly active in the gold stocks, but they appeared to lose their zest. Lake Shore Mines yielded more than a point.

Aluminum Company gained more than 1. Singer and Great Atlantic & Pacific eased slightly.

The oils were again steady, Gulf dipping a scant fraction and Standard of Indiana, and Humble holding last week's moderate gains.

FACING MANY TASKS COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 6.-(P)-Problems face South Carolina's lawmakers as they return to their duties at noon tomorrow. Chief among them is the general appropriation bill, now before the house. Whether the rigid economy meas-

61 57$ 105 56$ 97 97$ 88$ 90 107 103$ 80 41$ 90 84$ 102$ 88 94 84$ 90 11$ 70

Whether the rigid economy measure, embodying nearly a 50 per cent reduction from last year's authorized expenditures, will be approved by the house likely will be decided this week, with public school appropriations the battle ground.

Senate action on a house bill changing the date of the fiscal year is being awaited with interest, as it would probably necessitate the writing of a separate appropriation bill and redrafting of the present one.

Should the measure become law, it would be necessary to make appropriations for the state from January 1, next, to July 1, 1934, unless the legislators decided to postpone it until the next session.

Among measures due to receive consideration this week are bills to regulate further motor transportation, now in the hands of house and senate committees; and relating to textile operatives. A hearing on a bill designed to eliminate the textile "stretch-out" system likely will be held Wednesday or Thursday.

8 Killed, 100 Injured In Paris Shop Blast

PARIS, Feb. 6.—(P)—Eight persons were killed and about 100 injured, some of them fatally, when a boiler exploded today in the power-house of the Renault Automobile Works at Billancourt, on the edge of Paris.

It was feared there were other victims trapped in ruins of the power-house, which was afire.

The bodies of six dead and about 100 injured had been recovered this afternoon.

Often had he watched the British airmen soaring above the Red Lines. It looked so simple he was sure he could do it himself if only someone would show him how. He hoped that the white man who came in the machine and escaped, might fall into his hands.

On this very day, after he had quitted the plane and was now concealed in the jungle's edge, Usanga heard voices. Presently his joy was unbounded, for suddenly he saw the British officer coming down-trail. And with him was the white girl who also had account him. also had escaped him.

Hull Urges Taxation Of Federal Securities

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.-(P)-Senator Hull, democrat, Tennessee, plans soon to introduce a constitutional amendment going farther than the plan of Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, to bolster federal and state revenues by barring issuance of state revenues by harring issuance of tax-exempt securities.

Saying the proposal was his own and he had not discussed it in his recent conference with President-elect Roosevelt, the Tennessean revealed to day it would authorize congress to tax federal, state and local securities and give the states concurrent power to tax federal bonds under a "uniform" system.

Monday night by Councilman William G. Hastings, chairman of council's traffic committee and Mayor James L. Key's traffic advisory commission.

All passenger and truck operators were urged to attend the meeting, as a thorough discussion of the proposed changes will take place and details of the program will be explained, Hastings said.

V/ATCH a champion boxer in the ring. What rhythm! Every move a poem of smoothness.

That's the smoothness of an OLD GOLD. A harmony of the world's finest tobacco, queen-leaf Turkish and domestic tobacco; prime-cured, free of all hot-burning artificial flavorings. A happy blend of winning throat-ease and taste appeal.

If you would know the full meaning of a smooth smoke . . . try a pack of silken-smooth OLD GOLDS.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight boxing champion of the world

Remember: - No better tobacco grows than is used in OLD GOLDS.
